Jennifer Grau Resigns

It is with regret that we announce the June departure of Jennifer Grau who has held the position of Assistant Director of Museums for the past 6 1/2 years.

A major change took place in Jennifer's life last July with the arrival of daughter, Haley Morgan Grau. Jennifer and her husband, Jeff, feel that it would be in Haley's best interest for Jennifer to be at home with her for the next period of time.

Jennifer is also pursuing a Master of Arts in Teaching from Mary Baldwin College, from which she is scheduled to graduate in May 1998. After that time, she plans to pursue a career in elementary education, focusing on grades K-3.

At the Historical Society, Jennifer has had primary responsibility for coordinating and planning educational programs, including the development of workbooks for school children and teachers. Other responsibilities have included planning exhibits; aiding in the recruitment of volunteers; maintaining media contact and public relations; and serving as a liaison with various departments within the county and the public at large. For several years she was editor of The Messenger.

Good luck, Jennifer! You will be missed.
